S6 Fig. Landscape of somatic mutations in patients with desmoid tumors in all genomic regions (A) and coding regions (B). The majority of mutations were intronic. Moreover, mutations in coding regions were primarily missense and synonymous variants. The x-axis indicates patient numbers and the y-axis indicates the proportions of variant types.